

Soonhee Jang, Esq.
Eli Lilly and Company

Ms. Soonhee Jang is a Patent Counsel & Regional IP Counsel for Asia at Eli Lilly and Company. Ms. Jang has full range of patent experience and responsibilities in managing and enforcing patent rights in Asia, including China, Korea, Taiwan and India. Her practice also includes patent procurement worldwide, outsourcing, licensing, and management of outside counsels. As an in-house counsel, she also manages patent portfolios, which cover commercially important pharmaceutical products as well as provides legal counseling, opinions, and patent/litigation strategies.

Ms. Jang is a Vice Chair of the Asian Practice Committee of Intellectual Property Owners Association (APC-IPO) since 2004, and served as US Program Coordinator of Pacific Intellectual Property Association (PIPA) from 2002 to 2004. She is also a member of AIPLA-Japan Practice Committee and IP Practice Far East Committee. She has participated as part of a delegation of the PIPA to Japan and Korea in 2002 and 2004 to discuss important IP issues. Also as a delegate of the Japan Practice Committee of AIPLA, she visited Tokyo High Court, JPO and Japanese IP organizations to discuss many of the important IP issues in Japan in 2004-2007. In 2005, she organized and led the joint delegations of US group of PIPA and APC-IPO to China for a fact finding trip where the delegations discussed many pressing IP issues with the Chinese courts, governmental and nongovernmental agencies as well as Chinese IP organizations. She also organized and co-chaired a program involving IP enforcement in China for the 1st IPO-JIPA Asian Practice International Congress held in Seattle, Washington on September 2005.

Ms. Jang has given presentations and served on many IP panels on various topics, which include:

- "Inventor Compensation: US Perspective," IPO-PPAC Conference, Faculty, November 7, 2006, Beijing, China.
- "What You Should Know When Doing Technology Transfer in China: Protecting Trade Secrets," IPO Annual Meeting, September 10-12, 2006, Chicago.
- "China IP Protection & Patent Enforcement Experience," Multilateral IPR Coalition Summit, US Chamber of Commerce, Washington, DC, March 21-22, 2006
- PPAC-APC Seminar, Faculty, Licensing and Counterfeit, Beijing, China, November 2005
- "Border Enforcement," 1st IPO-JIPA Asian Practice International Congress, Seattle Washington, September 13-15, 2005
- "Procuring Patents and Managing IPR in China," Blueprint for Building and Enforcing IP Value in China, San Francisco, California, March 21-22, 2005
- "US Experimental Use Exemption to Patent Infringement," Tokyo, Japan, April 2004
- "Overview of Chinese Patent Law," The 35th Int'l Congress of the Pacific Intellectual Property Association (PIPA), Toyama, Japan, October 2004.
- "Reform of the Patent Cooperation Treaty," The 33rd Int'l Congress of the Pacific Intellectual Property Association (PIPA), Fukuoka, Japan, October 2002.

Prior to joining Eli Lilly and Company, Ms. Jang was a Senior Patent Attorney at Merck & Co. in New Jersey. Ms. Jang is registered to practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the federal and state bars of New Jersey. Ms. Jang received her law degree from Franklin Pierce Law Center, her undergraduate degree in chemistry from California State University at Fresno, and a Master's degree in chemistry from University of Washington.